The New Rulers Of The World - John Pilger

Pilger looks at all these places and more and the poor reader is muddled as they get pulled into a story that many of us know but probably have not stitched together as tightly as Pilger gives us. "The New Rulers of the World" is a small book of only 207 pages in the hardback version and those are small pages so the reading will not take long-the digestion, however, will take considerably longer.

In 2001, John Pilger made "The New Rulers of the World", a film exploring the impact of globalisation. It took Indonesia as the prime example, a country that the World Bank described as a 'model pupil' until its 'globalised' economy collapsed in 1998. Globalisation has not only made the world smaller. It has also made it interdependent.

John Pilger - Wikipedia

The New Rulers of the World (2001) by John Pilger provides a good example of a Dependency Theory analysis of the consequences of neoliberal globalisation, focusing on Indonesia as a case study. The fact that this is a dependency view of development is quite clear from John Pilger's own summary of the documentary:
